Large Outdoor TV Screens for Bar & Pub Gardens

Weatherproof Outdoor Television for Pubs, Clubs and Gardens

LEDsynergy offer two types of TV displays, either LED or LCD. LED screens are used when a larger screen size is needed, such as larger beer gardens, and LCD screens are ideal for smaller areas as the screens are smaller units.

Our screens are waterproof, weatherproof and football fan proof! They are durable and offer the owners of pubs, bars, restaurants and hotels the chance to not only entertain their customers but to capitalise on the live outdoor screening of sporting events and football matches.

When you install one of our outdoor TVs you can provide an additional attraction to your customers and can often turn an otherwise unproductive outdoor space into a garden that will generate an additional revenue for you.

The scale of business that can be derived from this type of investment should not be underestimated by regional and local breweries, pub chains and pub companies. Showing live events and sporting events can be very profitable for publicans and sports bar owners especially if they have beer gardens, terraces or smoking areas.

Our screens, large or small, are designed and built in the UK and are specifically designed for commercial use and durable enough to withstand the extremes of our British weather, good or bad.

Broadcast Live TV, Live Sports Games & Movies

LEDsynergy outdoor TVs can be used to broadcast live TV, live sports games and events, sports tournaments, streaming video services or watching any other large events, bringing in a crowd and therefore upping your profits.

An outdoor TV in your pub garden will, undoubtedly, attract more customers to your establishment and increase your turnover. If you are streaming live sports event such as football or rugby matches you can expect more customers, who will be spending more money on food and drink, which in turn increases your profits.

Having a fully weatherproof and durable screen gives you peace of mind when you are installing a TV into an outdoor garden or space.

Our TV screens are of the best quality and we can help you get everything set up, and ready for you to use.

Finance is available on our LED and LCD screens, please call us for details.
